Heinz Redl, born in 1952, attended the Vienna University of Technology and graduated in Technical Biochemistry. He first worked as a Research Assistant and later on as Assistant Professor at the Vienna University of Technology at the Institute for Technical Microscopy. Since 1982, he has been working as an Associated Professor at the Vienna University of Technology. In addition he has been a consultant not only for Baxter Bioscience/Biosurgery but also for the Research Institute for Traumatology of AUVA (Austrian Workers Compensation Board) since the late 1970. In 1980, he started to work as Research Scientist at the Ludwig Boltzmann Institute for Experimental and Clinical Traumatology in Vienna, where he became Deputy Director in 1995. Later on, in 1998, he became Director of the Ludwig Boltzmann Institute for Experimental and Clinical Traumatology in Vienna as well as CEO of Trauma Care Consult, a company which he founded in the same year. In 2006 he started coordinating the newly founded Austria Cluster for Tissue Regeneration. Next to his activities in research areas, he is also a member of the Editorial Board of Shock, European Journal of Trauma, Tissue Engineering, Journal of Tissue Engineering and Regenerative Medicine. He and his team organized the TERMIS-World Conference 2012 (International Society of Tissue Engineering and Regenerative Medicine) and he is president elect of TERMIS-EU.
